New owner for medifa in Finnentrop

We are pleased to announce that the BHM Group, a Prague-based family office with investments in various segments such as medical technology, real estate, retail, and renewable energy, has fully acquired medifa Finnentrop as of March 1, 2023. In the future, the medical products will be distributed by the newly founded medifa GmbH, based in Finnentrop.

Under the umbrella of the BHM MedTech Group, the BHM Group consolidates EU based medical manufacturers to leverage their performance in creating economies of scale within the global consolidation process of the medical industry.

BHM's MedTech key brands involve ALVO Medical, BLOCK, FAMED Zywiec and Köttermann, all of which are globally recognized medical device manufacturers. The portfolio includes modular systems for hospital construction, operating room integration systems, clean room solutions, operating tables, hospital beds and high-quality laboratory systems. The MedTech Group companies account for combined annual sales of 160 million Euro.

BHM MedTech Group keeps the heritage and identity of the various brands and develops them further for a sustainable future. The companies remain independent and share their expertise across the group to leverage the performance of each individual company and hence the long-term profitability and longevity.

BHM MedTech Group supports profitable growth by ensuring investments into innovative products to offer value added solutions for the customers. Optimization of the distribution network and investments in state-of-the-art manufacturing technologies guarantee long-term international success.

"We are very excited to have become a part of the expanding BHM MedTech Group and we are optimistic about the various prospects and benefits this acquisition will bring us" says Jörg Faccin, COO of medifa. "We are convinced that this is a positive development for our customers, products and our company. The support of the BHM MedTech Group will enable us to further expand our high-quality standards and strengthen our position as a leading international manufacturer of medical devices."

The entire medifa management team remains in place after the acquisition and continues to be committed to meet our customers' demands in best possible way. Dr. Markus Keussen, also Vice President of BHM MedTech Group, will act as new CEO and contribute his longtime experience and knowledge from the medical device industry to our team.

"We would like to thank our customers for their many years of loyalty and trust and we are looking forward to continuing our successful cooperations ", says

Sebastian Gerk, VP Sales medifa "We are proud to have the continued support of our global distribution partners particularly in these challenging times."

"Together with the BHM Group, we will continue to provide our customers with innovative and high-quality products and also meet the increasing demands of modern, interconnected medical technology," says Michael Bartesch, CTO of medifa.
